THE MAXIXE

(The Flirtation Steps)

This step is done by the man winging to the right of partner and looking at her, then winging to the left and again looking, still keeping up the same step, the girl turning her head first to the right, then to the left, looking at the man. After this comes a forward step, the man again directly behind the girl, taking two lefts and two rights as before; then the man places one hand to girl's waist and one at side, bending from side to side, raising hands over head when to the right and down to side when on the left, then both hands to the waist, and continue steps.
